

Fafu Li

Education:

M.A. in International Development Policy, Duke University 2004
Concentrations: Development related public policy, NGOs, Project Management
Dissertation: Ecotourism in Northwest China

B.A. in Library Science, Wuhan University, China 1992

Experience:

Director assistant 2014 --
Head of the Project Management Department 2004 – 2014
QISL, CAS

Project officer and computer engineer 1995 – 2002
QISL, CAS

Project officer 1994 – 1995
Bureau of Basic Research, CAS
✧ Co-organized and designed the research activities in the field of chemistry of CAS

Information consultant 1992 – 1994

Teaching Experience:

Qinghai Normal University, Xining, Qinghai 2008
Taught Readings in Sociology to a class of 37 undergraduate students.

Activities:

- ✧ Serve as a member of the Working Committee of IFP China Alumni Association (2008 -2010)
- ✧ Cooperated with the Canadian NGO Plateau Perspective to help the snowstorm stricken people 4500 meters above sea-level on the Tibetan Plateau 2008-2009
- ✧ Serve as council member of Qinghai Province's People's Association for Friendship with Foreign countries, 2005-2010
- ✧ Participated in Pathways toward Higher Education Project funded by Ford Foundation, 2005
- ✧ Co-founded the NGO Dream-work International, registered in North Carolina, U.S. to bring back Chinese graduate students studying in the U.S. to teach in impoverished rural areas of China during the summer, 2004

✧ Chinese Academy of Sciences Visiting Scholarship, 1999

Awards and Honors:

✧ Outstanding Engineer by Chinese Academy of Sciences, 1997

Research areas:

My research focuses on public policy, especially development related policy issues, including scientific policy and technology policy, social development and environment protection, reconstruction of social capital and community development.